Caitriona Corr gave a presentation on the Culture of Cycling in Kilkenny. She advised that in 1880s cycling was a vibrant part of the social and cultural life. St. James's Park in Kilkenny was a cycling track. However, after the decline of the railways in post war years cars became the most common form of transport.

The report outlined that transport emissions have doubled since 1990 and how road transport accounts for 94.7% of all transport emissions. She emphasised the need to promote cycling as an alternative method of transport in order to meet our targets and reduce emissions. She referred to the Dutch system which has the best cycling infrastructure in Europe and how we can learn from them. Safety is a major factor that needs to be addressed and cyclists and pedestrians should to be prioritised in order to overcome this. In 2016 -2021, 65 cyclists were fatally injured and 1,636 cyclists were seriously injured.

She concluded that a phased implementation plan with timelines and collaboration with women, children and vulnerable road users is in progress.

She noted that Rás na mBán, Ireland's International cycle race for women, with teams from all over Europe and the USA will be staged in Kilkenny City and County from Wednesday 6th to Sunday 10th September, 2023 and will put Kilkenny on the World Stage.
